

"Family 500+" benefit and women on the labour market

24th of October 2017, 9:30 am – 12:30 pm
Zielna Conference Centre (Europa room, 6th floor)
Zielna Str. 37, Warsaw

Agenda

9:00 – 9:30 Registration

9:30 – 9:40

Introduction

Piotr Lewandowski (Institute for Structural Research – IBS)

Session I - Social benefits and female labour supply

9:40 – 11:00

Modelling labour supply in Poland: elasticity estimates and policy simulations

Michał Myck (Centre for Economic Analysis CenEA)

Family 500+ benefit and female activity rates

Iga Magda (Institute for Structural Research – IBS, Warsaw School of Economics – SGH)

Can mothers afford to work? Labor Supply Incentives of Social Benefits and Child Care in Poland

Matteo Morgandi (World Bank)

11:00 – 11:20

Coffee break

Session II – If, why and how to increase women's labour market activity?

11:20 – 12:20

Panel discussion with:

- Lech Antkowiak (Warsaw Labour Office)
- Anna Karaszewska (Jobs First)
- Paweł Kubicki (Warsaw School of Economics – SGH)
- Barbara Surdykowska (The Independent and Self-Governing Trade Union „Solidarność”)

Chair: Grzegorz Osiecki (Dziennik Gazeta Prawna)

12:20 – 12:30

Concluding remarks

Piotr Lewandowski (Institute for Structural Research – IBS)

Ministry of Science and Higher Education
Republic of Poland

*The seminar is financially supported by the Minister of Science and Higher Education in Poland from resources for science dissemination
(No. 892/P-DUN/2017).*